INFORMATION FOR STUDENTS

Repeat of courses the third time, if allowed, mandates the tuition be at full cost of instruction unless an exception is applied for and approved. Students who withdraw or fail a class due to extenuating circumstances may be granted an exception only once for each class.

If you are planning to petition for an exception to the state law that mandates a person pay tuition equal to “full cost of instruction,” you must supply documentation supporting your reason for petitioning for the exception. The following examples may give some assistance as you gather your documentation. You are expected to write a letter or detailed account of why you are petitioning for the exception AND attach additional supporting documentation. Without additional supporting documentation, your petition for exception may not be approved. You will need to build your case using official documents that support your request. (See examples below.)

Financial Hardship (Section IV)

It is the student’s responsibility to document why paying the full cost of instruction would cause financial hardship. Some examples of official documents that may help support your request: last year’s tax return; your paycheck stub and documentation of your monthly expenses; or unique expenses that have created an extreme financial burden and documentation of income.

Student Illness or Illness or Death of a Close Family Member (Section V)

If circumstances related to this category have occurred and have prevented you from being successful in a course, you must explain how your performance was adversely affected and official documentation must also be attached. Examples of documentation include, but are not limited to: correspondence from a physician, documentation including medical diagnosis, hospital invoices, death certificates, etc.

Call to Military Duty (Section V)

A copy of official military orders must be attached.

Other (Section V)

Other circumstances that have affected your performance might be a divorce, loss of a job, legal entanglements, domestic violence, etc. In any such case, official documents or official correspondence from an authority involved in the circumstances MUST be included with your petition for exception.

Neither lack of understanding of the course material, nor being slower to learn than was necessary to be successful in the course is considered an extenuating circumstance. State law does not view these situations as extenuating circumstances when allowing for the petition for an exception to paying tuition equal to full cost of instruction. Do not list reasons such as these in your petition.
